

WELCOME

WORK

IN PROGRESS

CONTACT

TREYHOFF Architecture

The New Yorker

Sleek. Bold. Daring. These words describe the sensation and excitement of this modern dwelling. Impressive cantilevers stretch from a small building envelope over the surrounding wetland below. A mix of stucco, cedar, concrete and glass form together to create a powerful relationship of materials. The extensive horizontal lines define the contours of the form. Expansive glass brings the outdoors in and captures views in all directions.

20/26 Tweet Like

20/26 Like